The Clyde and Nina Allen Mainstage

First produced on Broadway in 1962 starring Zero Mostel, and revived later in 1996 starring Nathan Lane, this broad and entertaining musical farce follows the path of the Roman slave, Pseudolus, on his long, convoluted and ultimately hilarious path to freedom. The original Broadway production and film was created by the legendary Stephen Sondheim and Larry Gelbart (creator of television's long running hit, M*A*S*H).
